MANAGER'S COMMENTS

Review

Local government sukuk and bonds continue to stay resilient in 3Q 2020 with yields of the 3-year and 10-year MGS benchmark hovering around 1.99% and 2.67% level after hitting a fresh low of 1.83% and 2.40% in August.

GII/MGS yields have since corrected higher after BNM decided to maintain OPR rate at 1.75% at September's MPC meeting. BNM viewed that the current OPR level remains accommodative and supportive of the MYR sukuk/bond market.

Previously, there were some concerns over the FTSE Russell's decision on Malaysia's weightage in WGBI which saw some selling in September. However, GII/MGS yields turned attractive after the decision on 24th September to maintain Malaysia on watch list for another 6 months until March 2021.

Investment Outlook & Strategy

BNM in its last MPC meeting on 10th September 2020, left the OPR unchanged at 1.75%, citing more signs of recovery in growth outlook. The OPR cut in July fuelled the additional rally in MGS yields hitting all time low and a strong rally particularly along the long-end of the yield curve. However, momentum began to lose steam in mid-August due to profit taking activities followed by a rate pause in September.

We are of the view that Malaysia's rate cut cycle has probably come to the tail end, but the need for fiscal support remains strong. The less dovish policy tone also suggests BNM has no immediate plans for further rate cuts in the upcoming MPC meeting in November. However, the recent increase in COVID-19 cases may increase the odds for another rate cut as early as November unless a good economy recovery holds.

Meanwhile, as FTSE Russell maintained Malaysia's weightage in the WGBI on watch list for another 6 months until March 2021. We expect the positive catalyst from FTSE Russell's decision will infuse further market confidence on MYR sukuk/bond market.

The key focus now will be on Budget 2021 in November to address the delicate economic situation and news updates on the rising of COVID-19 infections nationwide. Although downside risk continues to persist, the reopening of economic activities is expected to provide further catalysts for economic recovery in the coming quarters.

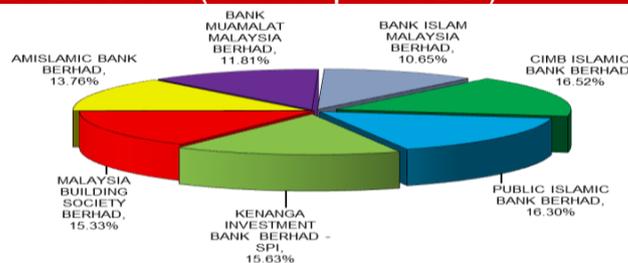

In view of the above, we expect the local sukuk/bond market to remain resilient. Factors supporting the local bond market are driven by abundant liquidity in the financial system; which are likely to keep the overall credit yield curve well anchored and supported.

The Fund will continue investing in short term Islamic deposits.
