MANAGER'S COMMENTS

Review

In March, the KLCI ended the month 0.7% higher at 1,849pts. The broader market outperformed the KLCI as the FBM Emas gained 1% to 12,798pts. Small caps continued to outperform despite Feb's sterling performance as the FBM Small cap surged 3.6% to 17,123pts while the FBM ACE gained 3.4% to 6,661pts. Average daily value traded on Bursa in March fell 5% to RM2.17bn.

Investment Outlook & Strategy

The continuous positive economic data from the Developed Markets will provide a positive sentiment for the equity market, however the downside risk could stem from further defaults in China and geopolitical risks arising from the Crimea impasse. The new Fed Chair Janet Yellen is set to continue her predecessor's (Bernanke) policies of QE tapering while maintaining its accommodative monetary stance if and when necessary. No doubt that Yellen appears to be less dovish than the markets expected; she is also not seen as hawkish enough to escalate a QE tapering sending shockwaves through markets despite hinting at possible earlier interest rate hike.

Investment strategy should reflect such conditions rather than allow our sentiments and emotions over-ruled the logical thought process. As a result of this, reinvestment, rebalancing and/or switching activities will focus towards; (a) specific small to mid-cap for outperformance (b) bombed-out over-looked, under-research or ignored companies with cheap valuation against its historical band/peers, (c) good companies which are currently at the wrong market cycle but will benefit moving forward due to its inflection point of structural or induced recovery, and (d) tactical position in specific thematic plays, other than selective defensive-resilient led stocks.
