MANAGER'S COMMENTS

Review

November was a month of consolidation for Malaysian markets as the KLCI did not fluctuate wildly as compared to the previous months and managed to eke out some gains on the back of stronger performance on Wall Street and the Ringgit. The sale of Edra Global energy to China General Nuclear Power Corporation and China's commitment to buy Malaysian bonds also helped boost sentiment as the political issues that were plaguing the local markets appear to have gradually dissipated. In addition to that, the recently concluded 3Q15 results season were not as bad as feared with fewer than expected earnings disappointments. The benchmark KLCI edged up 6pts or 0.4% to end the month at 1,672pts as the broader market FBMEMAS also performed in-line with the KLCI to close in positive territory. However, the performances of Small caps were mixed as the FBM Small cap index eased 0.2% M-o-M to close at 15,650pts while the FBM ACE surged 5.2% to end the month at 6,543pts. Average daily value traded on Bursa for the month of November edged up 2% M-o-M to RM2.29bn.

Investment Outlook & Strategy

Despite having positive outlook on the market, we are tactically reducing our asset allocation to Neutral (75% average) from an Overweight position to take advantage of the current market's relatively higher levels. The focus on market liquidity fund flows leading indicators over pure economic fundamentals (lagging catalyst) will continue to be very crucial in current times of uncertainties.

We continue to strongly believe that markets move in cycles and historically periods of downturn are always shorter than upturns. The market's fundamentals still offer opportunities at the right price as equities is still the relatively better asset class to invest in compared to fixed income on the back of flush liquidity and an eventual rising rate environment moving forward.

Therefore, the long term investment strategy should reflect such conditions rather than allow our short-term sentiments and emotions to over-rule the logical thought process. As a result of this, reinvestment, rebalancing and/or switching activities will focus towards; (a) specific small to mid-cap for growth outperformance while timely selective big-cap index-linked stocks for indexation & dividend yield play, (b) undervalued companies with cheap valuations against its historical band/peers, (c) good companies which are currently at the wrong market cycle but will benefit moving forward due to its inflection point of structural or induced recovery, and (d) tactical position in specific thematic plays other than selective defensive-resilient stocks.
