MANAGER'S COMMENTS

Review

Month of May was a difficult month for Malaysia as the KLCI was sold down below the 1,800pt psychological support on the back of weak corporate results and heightened political concerns. The tabling of the 11th Malaysia Plan (11MP) on May 21 failed to stem selling pressure, let alone excite the market. The 11MP was considered as a relatively non-event and as expected, the focus was mainly on reaffirming various construction projects.

For the month, the KLCI fell 3.9% or 71pts to close at 1,748pts. The broader market outperformed the KLCI, with the FBM Emas declined by 3.5% m-o-m to 12,097pts. Small caps were mixed, with the FBM Small cap index falling only 3% to 16,041pts while the FBM ACE plunged 6.3% m-o-m to 6,549pts. Average daily value traded on Bursa in May was flat m-o-m at RM2.11bn.

Investment Outlook & Strategy

The US market was weaker during the month and that spilled over to the rest of the world. As mentioned last month market risk was higher on the downside, at this juncture that still holds true. Not much has changed as investors continue to scrutinize economic data to gauge the economic health and act as a guide to piece together strategy for the months ahead. What is for certain is that market clarity is not too forth-coming, therefore further volatility should be expected. News-flow from the US and the Fed's moves this year continues to be monitored closely, and new policies (may they be on interest or QE or pump-priming) by central banks and impact on their countries are also being analysed meticulously.

Whilst the current market sentiment spells doom and gloom, we view that this will be a short term liquidity driven market correction event as investors lock in profits or worst cut losses, restructure portfolio and try to remain liquid in order to preserve capital and performance.

On the contrary, we view this as an opportune time to reposition your portfolio and cherry pick investment in anticipation for a rebound towards late Q3 as we were ahead of the curve in anticipating a market correction, which we started to realise profits and reduced equity allocation in April.

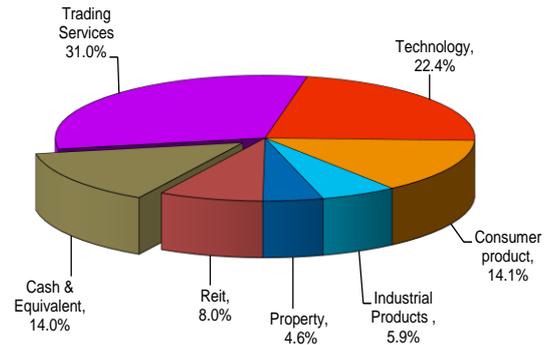

Focus on leading indicators of market liquidity fund flows over pure economic fundamentals (lagging catalyst) continues to be very crucial at current times of uncertainties. As such, a fluid and dynamic investment strategy on asset allocation and stock specific-centric remains.

Our medium to long term view, however, still remains positive from a financial market's perspective. We believe that the market's fundamentals still offer opportunities as the overall global economic and capital market conditions/outlook now continue to improve albeit at a different beat and momentum. In addition, equity will still be a relatively better asset class to invest in compared to fixed income on the back of flush liquidity and eventual rising rate environment. This is so if compared to last 12-24 months ago as the central bankers / policy makers are better prepared with anti-recessionary / expansionary policies in place. Therefore, long term investment strategy should reflect such conditions rather than allow our short-term sentiments and emotions over-ruled the logical thought process.
