March was a relatively volatile month for Malaysia as the KLCI fell to a low of 1,778pts before recovering all the losses. A firm Wall Street and more stable oil prices also helped boost sentiment. For the month, the KLCI gained 0.5% or 9pts to close at 1,831pts. The broader market underperformed the KLCI, with the FBM Emas gaining 0.05% mom to 12,563pts. Small caps were mixed, with the FBM Small cap index falling 2% to 16,287pts while the FBM ACE rallying 7.3% mom to 7,120pts. Average daily value traded on Bursa in March was down 3% m-o-m to RM2.12bn (RM2.19bn previously).

Investment Outlook & Strategy

As was last year, this year is poised to experience greater market volatility. The volatility would come from (action) potentially weaker economic data around the world and then countered by (reaction) the government's move to put in place a fiscal and/or monetary policy. Investors are also looking at the US as the beacon of hope next year and how they will manage their rate hike. This year the US is the evident barometer to any major movements for markets around the world.

Domestically, the market is moving as expected which is buoyant in 1Q. Then we expect 2Q and 3Q to be weaker and hopefully the market will close stronger at the end of the year. Historically, after a year of negative performance, the following year is a positive one. This suggests that 2015 will be a good trading year with highs and lows to take advantage of. Strong headwinds for this year which we did not have last year which are low oil prices and weak Ringgit.

Our tactical short term equity asset allocation view is now skewed towards Neutral from Overweight previously, as we target to front-load portfolio performance (lock-in realised returns and/or relative performance) and prepare to capitalise on an expected temporary market pullback in the very near future.

Nevertheless, our medium-long term view remains intact. Rotational asset and regional play is inevitable. Focus on leading indicators of market liquidity fund flows over pure economic fundamentals (lagging catalyst) is very crucial at current times of uncertainties. As such, a fluid and dynamic investment strategy on asset allocation and stock specific-centric are imperative.

On a medium to long term basis, we still believe that the market's fundamentals still offer opportunities as the overall global economic and capital market conditions/outlook now continue to improve albeit at a different beat and momentum.

In addition, equity will still be a relatively better asset class to invest in compared to fixed income on the back of flush liquidity and eventual rising rate environment. This is so if compared to last 12-24 months ago as the central bankers / policy makers are better prepared with anti-recessionary / expansionary policies in place. Therefore, long term investment strategy should reflect such conditions rather than allow our short-term sentiments and emotions over-ruled the logical thought process.
