KKIP Boosted Volume with New Plants

KEY INVESTMENT HIGHLIGHTS

- 1QFY24 core PATAMI met our estimate
- Port throughput were boosted by KKIP's new plants
- Anticipating new oil jetty completion at SBOT
- No changes to earnings estimates
- Stock is trading at +1.5SD above its 5-year historical mean, good opportunity to take profit. Maintain SELL with an unchanged TP of RM1.60

Within expectation. In 1QFY24, Suria Capital Holdings Berhad (Suria) disclosed a core PATAMI of RM14.3m. This aligns with our expectations, constituting 27%/28% of our/consensus full-year estimates.

Quarterly. The core port operations saw an uptick of +11.1%yoy in revenue, largely driven by a substantial +19.0%yoy boost in container throughput. This can be attributed to the operational commencement of plants by SK Nexilis and Kibing Group in the preceding quarter. The container and conventional throughput reported in 1QFY24 accounted for 24% and 21% respectively of our projected full-year volumes. Core PATAMI surged by +45.9%yoy, benefiting from margin enhancements. Sequentially, revenue remained relatively flat as the increase in container throughput (+6.9%qoq) was balanced out by a decline in conventional throughput (-14.0%qoq). The notable margin improvement compared to 4QFY23 was attributed to an adjustment in the amortisation period in the previous quarter, in accordance with MFRS138 guidelines.

Outlook. Anticipating an improved performance this year, we attribute it primarily to the full-year contribution of SK Nexilis and Kibing Group's new plants in Kota Kinabalu Industrial Park (KKIP). These facilities are expected to add around 38,400 TEUs annually to Suria's operations. Furthermore, with the completion of the new oil jetty at Sapangar Bay Oil Terminal (SBOT) by 2QFY24 due to the existing jetty nearing its maximum handling capacity, we foresee an increase in bulk oil volume and consequently, a rise in conventional cargo volume. Our projections indicate a +7.0%yoy increase in container throughput and a +3.0%yoy increase in conventional throughput for this year.

Maintain SELL. Our earnings estimates and DCF-derived target price of RM1.60 (WACC: 8%, g: 1%) remain unchanged. Given that the stock is trading at +1.5SD above its 5-year historical mean, we believe it could be a good opportunity for investors to take profit. Hence, we are reaffirming our SELL call on it. A key catalyst for the stock would be the long-awaited tariff revision, which has not yet been incorporated into our model.
